Eugene O'Neill Jr. Is Suicide at His Woodstock Home

Son of Playwright Slashes His Wrist; Dies From Loss of Blood Prior to Arrival of Physician; Coroner Kelly Gives Verdict

Eugene Gladstone O'Neill, Jr., 40, son of the playwright, committed suicide by slashing his left wrist Monday noon at his home on the Ohayo Mountain road, Woodstock.

O'Neill, professor at the New School for Social Research in New York, was dead from loss of blood before the arrival of Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly of Kingston has ruled the death a suicide. He said the left radial artery had been severed with a safety razor blade, and that loss of blood resulted in death. There were also three slashes in his left ankle, but they would not have been serious enough to cause death, the coroner said.

Rail Crossing Job Resumes

Work was resumed today on the Broadway crossing project and others in the area, following agreement between Local 17, International Hod Carriers Building and Construction Workers Union and contractors.

The dispute caused a work stoppage on seven projects in the county. It began two weeks ago yesterday.

C. H. Mayer, business agent for Local 17, said that men went back to work for Lipsitt Inc., on the Napanech prison project at $1.75, but the same contractor will pay only $1.65 an hour on the Broadway crossing project until March 1, 1951, when the full increase will become effective.

The crossing project started last year while the Napanech job is a comparatively new one.

No Agreements Reached
Mayer said the union failed to reach agreements with T. & O. A. Slutzky, of Hunter, contractors on the Washington School project, and with Vennetia-Brown, contractor on the Benedictine Hospital, both in the city.

Work was also scheduled to resume on the dormitory project at the State Teachers College, New Paltz where men are to be paid $1.65 an hour to Jan. 1, when the full $1.75 will be paid, Mayer said. The union is holding out for the $1.75 on the local school and hospital projects because they "are new jobs," Mayer said.

The two local jobs and "two or three very small jobs," are the only ones in the area under jurisdiction of Local 17, not paying the $1.75 an hour, Mayer said.

License Renewals Due

Albany, Sept. 26—The motor vehicle bureau suggests drivers check the expiration date on driver license before Saturday. Many of the more than five million New York state operators' licenses expire September 30. Renewals are available at all Motor Vehicle Bureau issuing offices, including most county clerks' offices.

Two Investigators Are Slain Prior To Crime Report

Former Policeman, Lawyer Are Killed Coldly on Sections of Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—Two crime investigators were slain last night in separate shootings shortly before they were to have reported on activities of Chicago gangsters.

William J. Drury, 48, a former Chicago police lieutenant, was riddled with shotgun pellets while a representative of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee was trying to arrange a meeting with him.

A short time later, Marvin J. Bas, 45, an attorney who had been digging up crime syndicate information for a Republican candidate for Cook county sheriff, was shot down on a northwest side street.

Both killings were coldly efficient. Drury's slayers waited in a garage behind his home until he had backed his new car into the structure. They fired four shotgun charges point blank through the left windshield.

Hit by 10 Slugs
A .45 caliber slug also tore the automobile's cowl just below the windshield. Drury was hit by at least 10 slugs, some penetrating his brain.

Two women saw Bas shot to death by two nattily-dressed gunmen. The lawyer was noticed struggling with them. He broke away and ran. They followed, dropped him with a pistol shot. And one leaned over him and finished him off with a shot below the left ear.

Drury, long an implacable foe of the Capone gang, had offered "important information" to Rudolph Halley, chief counsel for the Senate committee headed by Sen. Eustice Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

A few minutes before Drury was killed, George S. Robinson, an assistant committee counsel, telephoned his house and asked the ex-police official's wife, Annabelle, to have her husband get in touch with him.

Asked for Interview
Robinson told reporters he had been asked by Halley to interview Drury.

Drury and Capt. Thomas Connolly were dismissed from the police force in 1947 after they refused to tell a grand jury the methods they had used to dig up evidence in a murder case.

Since then, the two men collaborated on crime stories for the Chicago Herald-American. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 3)

Ruling Made 10 Men Must Be Left Free

Justice Jackson Says Jailing Communists Would Violate Rights, Permit Martyrdom Will Be Watched

Department of Justice Expected to Keep Up Surveillance

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Justice Jackson of the Supreme Court has ruled that 10 U. S. Communist party leaders must remain free for the present because jailing them would violate American rights and might permit them to claim martyrdom.

He reasoned they could claim they were martyrs if they were jailed now and the Supreme Court later upset their conviction for conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Jackson late yesterday signed an order which continued their freedom on bail. It will remain in effect until the high court decides finally on an appeal which the 10 men are expected to file shortly.

Jackson said in effect that the harm they could do free is less than the damage to American freedoms that would result from jailing them now.

The government, contending that the men "should not be at large in this hour of national crisis," had urged Jackson to deny their application for continued bail.

'Practical Aspect'
"There is a very practical aspect of this application which must not be overlooked or underestimated," Jackson declared in turning the government down.

"That is the disastrous effect on the reputation of American justice if I should now send these men to jail and the full court later decide that the conviction is invalid."

"The worst they can accomplish in the short time it will take to end this litigation is preferable to the possibility of national embarrassment from a celebrated case of unjustified imprisonment of Communist leaders."

"Under no circumstances must we permit their symbolization of an evil force in the world to be hallowed and glorified by any semblance of martyrdom."

'Not Naive Enough'
The justice said he was "not naive enough to underestimate the trouble-making propensities of these defendants," but he indicated he expects the Department of Justice to keep a close watch on them.

Eleven Communist leaders were convicted in New York last October of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of this government. But only 10 applied for continued bail. The 11th, party secretary Eugene Dennis, is already in jail. He is serving a year for contempt of Congress.

Jackson said he regarded the conviction of the 11 leaders as a "grave danger" to the country, now "to review" by the Supreme Court.

'Grave Danger' Sealed
As to government arguments that "grave danger" could result from what the Communists may do, Jackson said:

"If I assume that these defendants are disposed to commit every opportune disloyal act helpful to Communist countries, it is still difficult to reconcile with traditional American law the jailing of persons by the courts because of their political beliefs."

Seoul Is Seized by U.N. Forces; Mop-Up Is On

83 Miners Killed in Pit Blaze

Creswell, England, Sept. 26 (AP)—A raging underground fire trapped and killed 83 men today at the Creswell coal mine.

Eighty of the men were caught behind a wall of flame and choked to death by gas and fumes. Three others were brought out dead by fellow workers who crept to safety on their hands and knees.

Rescuers Driven Back
Smoke and intense heat drove back rescuers and hope for the trapped men was abandoned at 4 p. m. (7 a. m. E.S.T.), when the five had been burning for nine hours.

The decision to give up rescue attempts and seal off the burning section of the mine was announced by Sir Hubert Houldsworth, chairman of the East Midlands Division of the National Coal Board.

He said a check showed that 80 men were missing.

More than half of the approximately 200 men working in the mine when the fire flared escaped, crawling through dense smoke and rubber fumes to reach the main shaft.

Rescue Impossible
This afternoon Sir Hubert and the Mineworkers Union, in a joint statement, said despite rescue efforts "it was not possible to rescue any of the trapped men."

A long moan went up from waiting wives and children of the trapped men when the decision was announced.

Fumes Fill Pit
A rescue worker who came up at noon described the mine as "just hell down below."

He said fumes had filled the whole pit. Above ground, hundreds of men filled sandbags to be taken below to seal off the fire. Rescue teams rushed here from surrounding mines.

The flames broke out at 4 a. m., apparently in a conveyor belt shaft. The mine has an elaborate network of more than 15 miles of such belts—one of them 1,932 yards long—to carry coal from the coal face to the main shaft.

Wicks Lauds State Role in Ulster's Help

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, senate majority leader, today lauded Governor Thomas E. Dewey's administration for helping to increase outdoor recreational facilities for Ulster county.

Senator Wicks' statement, his first since his keynote speech at Saratoga September 6 at the Republican convention, was issued by him from his office in the State Capitol, Albany.

Senator Wicks said:
"Ulster county residents are particularly grateful for the assistance given them by the present Republican state administration in increasing outdoor recreational facilities for its citizens and adding to the vacation and resort business income."

"It was the Dewey administration that launched the construction of the Belleayre Ski Center which will make skiing facilities available to as many as 2,000 persons at a time, and it was the Dewey administration which aided the great army of fishermen by providing $461,000 to construct a large fish hatchery in the Catskills."

"I am confident that Ulster county, which produced a record Republican vote in 1946, will do as well or better this year. At the same time, I am looking forward to working with an increased Republican majority in the state senate and have every expectation of picking up at least six senate seats now held by the opposition party."

Rail Lines Are Cut

Vienna, Austria, Sept. 26 (AP)—Rail communications between Vienna and the west were cut today shortly after Communist-led rioting broke out in the heart of this occupied capital. Like Berlin, Vienna is an island inside the Soviet occupation zone, with the city itself occupied by four powers.

Prosecution Rests At Kelly's Trial

Teller Is Appointed To Secretary's Post

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Capt. Steadman Teller, who formerly lived in Kingston, N. Y., has been appointed navy secretary of the Department of Defense's Research and Development Board, the department announced yesterday.

Teller has been with the board for a year, representing the navy on committees on aeronautics and ordnance. He is a graduate of the Naval Academy. He now lives in Germantown, Md. He succeeds Read Adm. A. A. (31 Knot) Burke, who has been recalled to sea duty.

Glasco Water Plan Is Approved by State Comptroller

Proposed District Serves Village, Extends From Saugerties Line South on 9W

The approval of the state comptroller has been granted for the establishment of the proposed Glasco water district.

The project, including the erection of an elevated tank and installation of water mains, is expected to cost $198,000. The district includes all of Glasco and extends from the Saugerties village line south on Route 9W as far as Cibi's Garage, and along Route 32 to the Mazzel property.

Water will be taken from the Saugerties village system with the permission of the village water board.

The proposal to create the Glasco district grew from a petition signed by more than 50 per cent of the district property owners. After the petition was filed, the Saugerties town board on July 7 set a public hearing for July 25, at which time about 100 property owners turned out to Firemen's Hall, and no objection was voiced.

The town board then adopted a resolution approving the establishing of the district and empowered the town supervisor, Peter Williams, to file application with the state comptroller. This application has been approved.

Special Meeting Called
A special meeting of the town board has been called for Thursday night, September 28, to adopt the formal order establishing the water district. After that action is taken, an application for approval must be filed with the Water Power and Control Commission in Albany.

The project is expected to get under way next spring, after a bond issue is authorized and contracts let.

Morrell Vrooman, Gloversville engineering firm, prepared the plans for the project. Attorneys for the town board handling the transaction are Frank Campochiaro and Louis P. Francello.

Murder Case Goes Over to Defense; Witnesses Heard

The prosecution rested its case shortly after noon today at the conclusion of the testimony of William T. Leonard, 90 Highland avenue, Kingston, who was driving his car a short distance behind the Chevrolet car from which Edward H. Kelly allegedly shot Mrs. Eloise McHugh to death on Monday, May 22, last.

Immediately after District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn announced that the case of The People was concluded, Guido Napoletano, one of the counsel for defendant, asked that motions on the part of defendant be postponed until after the noon recess. That request was granted and court recessed until 2 o'clock.

Witnesses
Lester Wolff, 48 Clinton avenue, employed at the Governor Clinton Hotel, was the first witness at the morning session.

Wolff was walking on Main street near 48 Main street when he said he saw a woman drop to the walk across the street. He said he did not know her name but had seen her at Burgevin's flower shop. He said he heard a shot as she fell but did not know from where the shot came. He saw William Leonard go over toward the woman and a man in a parked Chevrolet car said, "Don't you go over there," Wolff said he had not noticed the car before but saw a man get out of it and go over toward the woman. When Leonard started to go away, Wolff said Leonard came back. The man in the Chevrolet got out "and used the gun on himself," Wolff said he could not recognize the gun, except that the gun the man had was a rifle.

Asked if he saw the man in the court room who had started over to the woman, Wolff said he did not.

Witnesses throughout the case who have not testified have been excluded from the court room during the taking of testimony.

Wolff said he heard a shot and saw the woman fall. The man who got out of the Chevrolet had a wind breaker on. After the man had shot himself, Police Officer Soper picked up the gun and gave it to Officer Burger. Wolff said Mrs. McHugh fell flat on her face with her hands extended and then tried to get up but fell back again.

Saw No One Else
Cross-examined Wolff said he did not recognize the rifle offered for identification. He said he saw no one else on the street as he walked toward St. Joseph's Church that morning. He did not know whether there were cars parked on the street or not, except for the two cars near the scene of the shooting.

Asked whether he heard two shots, Wolff said he heard the first shot after the woman had fallen down. "I saw her fall before I heard the shot," he added he was not excited at the time.

City Suffers Badly From Fiery Battle

Writer Reports Fight for Capital Exceeds Anything He Saw in Two Wars

Red Units Flee More Than 100,000 Are Reported in Flight Toward North

Tokyo, Sept. 26 (AP)—General MacArthur announced today the liberation of Seoul from North Koreans who held the capital in Red bondage almost three months. Fiery mop-up fighting still raged in the city.

United Nations forces representing 53 non-Communist countries scored their first big victory in the U.N.'s initial peace-enforcement campaign.

The liberation forces and dead-hard Reds inflicted terrible devastation on the city.

Seoul is a flaming, smoke-fogged city of horror, AP correspondent Don Whitehead reported from the marines fighting front. "Not in two wars have I seen anything to equal the battle for Seoul," he added.

"The Reds chose to defend Seoul. And the Americans are not sparing a single building in which the Reds had established defenses."

"Great fires are raging. A black dome of smothering fumes in the sky, a fearsome signal of destruction."

Approach Center of City
"Street by street, marines are nearing the heart of the city, blind flame-throwing tanks, heavy artillery and air bombardment and the rattle of machine-guns and rifles."

"Seoul is not being spared. It is a fight to the death with the Reds defending from houses, ridges and rooftops."

Whitehead's dispatch was sent from Seoul at 11 p. m. Tuesday (4 a. m. E.S.T.). MacArthur announced at 2:10 p. m. Tuesday (12:10 a. m. E.S.T.) that U.N. forces had completed "the envelopment and seizure of the city" and liberated it "in such a manner as to cause the least possible damage to civil installations."

Thick carbon monoxide reported built by American war prisoners who were put to forced labor dotted the streets.

The marines holed burning tanks with 48-mm. guns, flame-throwers and bulldozer paws at the Red barricades.

The allied force, credited with liberation of the 500-year-old capital of 1,600,000 modern population is American and South Korean.

It was officially in control just three months and a day after the Korean Reds' Communists trained and Russian U.N. troops invaded the U.N.-sponsored republic across Paralled 38 June 25.

MacArthur signed and issued a special communique at 2:10 p. m. Tuesday (12:10 a. m. E.S.T.) to announce the end of effective Red resistance in Seoul.

Three Are Liberated
U. S. 25th Division troops liberated three doughboys—the first American war prisoners to be freed from the Red Koreans.

The three, wounded and hungry but apparently not abused, were found in a jail near Yongpung when the 24th Division recaptured the town. Yongpung is 20 air miles northwest of Seoul on the main road to Seoul.

The liberated Americans are Sgt. First Class Frank Fred and Blaine E. McLeod of the Second Division and Pvt. James O. Martin of the First Cavalry Division. Their hometowns were not given.

A fast-striking American force, presumably the First Cavalry Division, swept late Tuesday afternoon to the outskirts of Chonan, only 25 air miles from a link-up with the Inchon-Seoul second front forces at Chon.

An Eighth Army spokesman said air observers spotted the armed patrols on Chonan's outskirts.

Big Gamble Pays Off
MacArthur's "big gamble to break the back of Red Korean resistance and end the war of liberation" soon was paying off with surprising speed.

That calculated risk involved a hazardous landing far behind the enemy lines.

Dewey Assails 'Political Obstruction' By Truman to St. Lawrence Project

Enroute With Dewey, Sept. 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey campaigned in the St. Lawrence valley today, primed to rip into the Truman administration for what he called "political obstruction" to New York's development of cheap power.

Dewey's secretary, James C. Haggerty, said the governor would tell the people in a speech tonight at Massena "exactly how" Washington had "deprived them of cheap, plentiful St. Lawrence power."

Dewey will hit President Truman's administration for pigeonholing a plan for New York and the province of Ontario to develop St. Lawrence power jointly.

Massena is a few miles from the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence, where the proposed hydro-electric project would be constructed.

Dewey is expected to point up the need for the additional power outlay in "these critical times" by citing the power shortage that existed during World War 2.

Cheap power, he has said, would bring vast industrial development into the northern New York area. Meanwhile, Dewey carried his re-election campaign into Potsdam, Gouverneur and Ogdensburg.

At Potsdam and Ogdensburg he inspects state building projects, which he calls "steel and concrete" answers to Democratic questions about what happened to the state's nearly $700,000,000 wartime surplus.

The governor, citing expanded state services and construction of new facilities, hammered hard on that theme yesterday at Plattsburgh, Dannemora and Malone.

Dewey also urged a heavy registration in this traditionally Republican territory to help guarantee a G.O.P. victory November 7.

"Confidence is wonderful, but over-confidence is poison," he remarked. "I have detected a little of the latter."

State Senator J. Raymond McGovern, G.O.P. nominee for state comptroller, also called for a big turnout on registration day and election day.

McGovern, who is campaigning with Dewey, says the Republicans need "every last vote" in their strong upstate ballistics to offset what he conceded would be a heavy Democratic vote in New York city.

President Truman and Governor Dewey favor development of the long-proposed and bitterly argued St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project.

It's proponents have never been able to push authorizing legislation through Congress. The railroads have led a long and effective fight against the seaway.

Two years ago, the State Power Commission submitted to the Federal Power Commission a proposal that New York state undertake the power phase jointly with Ontario. The power would be distributed in New York by private utilities.

Dewey said he offered the program so the power development could be undertaken swiftly without being held up because of seaway opposition.

Dewey has said that New York's application for permission to launch the power project with Ontario was lying on the White House desk.

President Truman favors development of the seaway and power projects together by the federal government.

Iron Workers Go Back on Project

Ironworkers' union members returned to work at the New York city water supply project at Lackawack Monday pending a clarifying decision on a jurisdictional dispute which caused two stoppages in recent weeks.

The decision as to whether ironworkers' signmen will be employed on all six rigs lifting stone on the project is expected to be reached following a National Labor Relations Board hearing scheduled for Friday, Sam Doyle, business agent for the International Bridge Structural Iron Workers Union, Local 417, said today.

The dispute, which resulted in the 14 ironworkers employed on the job walking out last week Monday, arose over the interpretation of an earlier decision. The earlier decision, involving the employment of signmen in setting stone, was decided in favor of the union.

A spokesman for the S. A. Healy Company, contractors, said this morning that the company had complied with the decision by putting a signman on the crane used in setting stone. However, the union local contended that the decision affected not only that one rig, but all six rigs used on the job, including those for unloading the stone from cars. Thus, the second strike was called.

Doyle said that the company placed only one signman on the job, whereas as a safety feature, not only the crane operator but the complete crews including those who hook up the stone should be Iron Workers Union members. He pointed out that some of the stone weighs between eight and 12 tons.

Last week's strike of Iron Workers resulted in complete shutdown of work, as other workers refused to cross the picket line.

Plane Falls, 22 Missing

Tokyo, Sept. 26 (AP)—A Korean-bound C-54 transport plane plunged into the sea with 51 persons today. Twenty-eight were rescued, 22 are missing and one body was recovered. The big plane crashed on a rocky shore about a half-mile from the end of the runway. General MacArthur's headquarters said it carried 41 passengers and a crew of eight. Details of the crash were meager. Twenty-five passengers and three crew members got into life rafts and were picked up by Japanese fishing boats. A nurse was among the survivors.

To Reopen Hospitals

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) said today the armed services will reopen three hospitals to care for wounded returning from the Korean front. Vinson, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said they are the Army General Hospital at Valley Forge, Pa.; the Murphy General Hospital at Winchester, Mass.; and the Percy Jones General Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich. He told reporters the Valley Forge Hospital will be reopened immediately. Murphy Hospital by Nov. 1; and Percy Jones by Dec. 1.

Secretary Is Killed

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 26 (AP)—Tullo Paraguirre, 47, private secretary of Cuban President Fulgencio Batista, was shot and killed by two unidentified men today. The shooting occurred in the Senate president's downtown law office. Paraguirre died in a hospital soon afterwards. Suarez has announced his candidacy for the presidency in 1952.

Named ECA Head

William C. Foster (above) was named by President Truman to succeed Paul G. Hoffman as administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration. Foster has been E.C.A. deputy administrator.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Anna Boss were held on Monday at 2 p. m. at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, of which the deceased was a life-long member, officiated and also conducted the services at Montrose Cemetery.

Funeral services for Agnes Helander were held Monday from her late residence, 24 First avenue. Services were largely attended by friends, neighbors, relatives and members of the Trinity Lutheran Church. The Rev. Frank L. Gollnick officiated. There were many floral tributes. Burial was in the Montrose Cemetery.

The funeral of Edward Klepke, Sr., of LeFevre Falls, was held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 327 Main street, Rosendale, Monday, at 9:15 a. m., and at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a high Mass of requiem was offered 10 a. m. by the Rev. D. F. Fogarty. Responses to the Mass were sung by Edward Cherny and Anthony Bonacci, assisted by Mrs. Kinnel Rafferty at the organ. At the offertory Mr. Bonacci sang "Psalms Angelicus" and at the conclusion Mr. Cherny sang "In Paradisum." Many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. Sunday evening a group of members from the Sportsman's Association called in friends and the Rev. John P. Kelly led in the recitation of the Rosary. The Rev. D. F. Fogarty said prayers for the dead. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, where the Rev. Fr. Kelly gave final blessing. The bearers were John A. Weston, Conrad J. Klepke, Robert E. Miller and Martin Kerbacker.

Jeremiah J. Creeden, 75 years old, died unexpectedly late last evening at his home on Grove street, New Palitz, as the result of a heart attack. He was the son of the late Dennis and Johanna Murphy Creeden. He moved to New York many years ago, and was an employee of the Department of Marine Navigation of the City of New York. After his retirement three years ago, he moved to New Palitz. Surviving are his wife, the former Sarah O'Neill, and two sons, Jack and Dennis, both of New York city, two daughters, Mrs. Rosalie M. Coulter, of New Palitz, and Mrs. James McLaughlin, of New York city, and six grandchildren. He was a member of St. Joseph's Church of New Palitz and the Holy Name Society. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. from the Pine River Home, New Palitz. The Mass of requiem will be offered at 11 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale. Friends may call at the funeral home from this evening on.

Points Out Executive

Wellesley, Mass., Sept. 26 (AP)—A newly married business school student today looked up from his hospital bed where he lay critically wounded and pointed out a wealthy business executive as the man who shot him in an argument over his bride.

Joseph Krul, 33, sophomore at Babson Institute, accused Alan G. Richards, 57, of the shooting in a dramatic face-to-face meeting before Richards was brought to court and held without bail on a charge of assault with intent to murder. He pleaded innocent. Krul charged Richards shot him four times yesterday after a heated argument when the businessman demanded love letters he had allegedly sent the student's bride of two months.

Meetings Postponed

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Meetings of the Atlantic Pact defense ministers and military chiefs here were postponed today until October 24 and 28. They had been scheduled to meet 12 days earlier.

The Joiners

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

A regular stated convocation of Rondout Commandery No. 52, will be held in its assembly, Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue, on Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 7:30 p. m. The Commandery will be open in full force and a large attendance is requested.

Prosecution Rests

Burger said he had seen two men working over Mrs. McHugh when he arrived and he called for an ambulance. He said he arrived about two minutes after the shot had been fired. He was shown the 270 Winchester deer rifle and said he had picked it up from the fender of the Kelly car and put it in the police car and later turned it over to Sergeant Messing at headquarters. Burger said he had found a box of bullets in Kelly's pocket and when he removed them Kelly "made a grab for them."

Burger identified pictures of the scene, also an alarm clock which was found in the Kelly car, as well as a hat and a cap and a pair of glasses which were in the car Kelly had been operating.

On Guard at Hospital

On cross examination Burger said the door of the Chevrolet had been open when he arrived but was shut when the pictures were taken. He said he had stood guard at the hospital from the time Kelly was admitted until about 4 o'clock that day when he was relieved. Early that day he said Attorney Charles J. Saccamano had arrived at the hospital and requested admission to Kelly's room. He said he told Saccamano, whom he did not know, that no one could enter without permission of the chief of police or district attorney. Saccamano said he was the attorney for Kelly and Burger said then he admitted him. While Saccamano was with Kelly, Burger said, he stepped out of the room.

Kelly's Words Recalled

Leonard spoke to Kelly as he reclined on the pavement and Officer Soper said Kelly replied, "The dirty bum, she double crossed me left and right."

Soper said Leonard asked about the identity of the man on the pavement and Kelly took a wallet from his hip pocket and handed it to Leonard.

Cross examined, Soper said when he reached the scene Leonard, Tierney and Eighmey were there. He did not see Lester Wolff at the scene, Soper said. Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline of the sheriff's office shut off traffic at Main and Wall street shortly after the shooting and Officer Burger shut off traffic at Main and Fair streets. He saw no cars pass through the block. Later Detective Krom and Brophy and County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburg arrived at the scene.

Last Witness Called

William T. Leonard was the last witness called for the prosecution. Leonard said he was driving down Wall street toward St. Joseph's Church and when 30 to 40 feet from the corner he saw an object fall on the Chevrolet car. He saw the Chevrolet car in front of the First Dutch Church not far from the Main street entrance. As he rounded the corner he saw it was a woman. A Chevrolet sedan was standing across the street. Leonard stopped, got out of his car and started to go to the aid of the woman. The left door of the sedan was open and a man got out "dragging" a rifle. The man turned to Leonard and told him not to go over to the woman and pointed the gun in Leonard's direction. Leonard said he was about 20 feet away. He turned back and asked "where is the cop?" knowing that an officer is usually at the corner of Wall and Main streets at school hours.

Leonard then saw the man drop the butt of the gun to the ground, lean over it and "fumble with the trigger," something was wrong with the mechanism. Leonard said the bolt might not have been closed. The man finally pulled the trigger, shot himself and staggered to the ground and then slumped to the distance. He said the gun offered for identification was like the one Kelly had used.

The gun was offered in evidence and received without objection. Leonard said he tried to get Kelly to the door and took a seat cushion from the Chevrolet car and put it under Kelly's head. He identified the cap shown as one which Kelly wore when he shot himself. The cap dropped to the ground. He also identified the hat in evidence and said it was on the rear seat of the Chevrolet when he took the cushion out.

Did Not Know Man

Leonard said he did not know Kelly. He left the witness stand to go to the Kelly car where he was shot on May 22.

Leonard said while he stood by Kelly after the shooting and in the presence of Officer Soper he had said:

"My God man, why did you do such a thing?"

The man on the pavement replied, "The dirty bum has been double crossing me right and left."

Leonard said he asked for identification and Kelly took a wallet from his pocket and it contained a real estate identification card with an address at 92 Green street.

There was no cross-examination by the defense and The People then rested.

The opening of the trial was delayed over an hour and when Judge Cashin convened court he announced that the delay had been due to questions of law submitted to him by both counsel. Court recessed until 2 p. m.

No Nervousness Apparent

Kelly, Shokan, heard several witnesses Monday afternoon tell the story of the affair without any outward evidence of nervousness. At times he consulted with his counsel, Charles J. Saccamano, but he displayed no emotion as witnesses testified in rapid order.

At the opening of the afternoon session at 2 o'clock, following the testimony of Mrs. Sally Myers, daughter of deceased, who testified at the morning session that Kelly had threatened her and her mother earlier in May and that following that threat a warrant had been sworn out and Kelly arrested for disorderly conduct, several police officers were sworn and testimony of Arnold Tierney and Henry P. Eighmey was taken. Tierney and Eighmey were at the corner of Fair and Main streets at the time of the shooting and looked in time to see Mrs. McHugh fall to the ground. They were among the first to reach the scene and Eighmey testified he saw Kelly turn the gun on himself and inflict a wound in the temple in an apparent attempt at suicide.

Officer Guernsey Burger, Sr., who was at the Motor Vehicle Bureau office a short distance from the scene of the shooting on Main street, had testified at the morning session that he had arrived at the scene shortly after the shooting which he heard as he was seated in a patrol car on Main street.

Knew Him 10 Years

Burger said he had known Kelly about 10 years to speak to, but did not know Mrs. McHugh.

Tierney said he had served the area where Mrs. McHugh lived and had left Kelly at her place for Edward R. Kelly, 92 Green street, "for a couple of years." He said he observed a hole in the right shoulder of Mrs. McHugh and there was blood on her face when he turned her over and blood on her chest. He did not look inside the Chevrolet car.

On cross examination by William A. Kelly, counsel, Tierney said he saw no one on Main street coming from the direction of Wall street except Mrs. McHugh. There was a man standing near her and Eighmey at the corner. Tierney said the door of the Chevrolet was open when he first saw it.

Tierney said William Leonard picked the gun up from the pavement near where Kelly lay.

Eighmey Testifies

Henry P. Eighmey, 94 Highland avenue, was called.

Eighmey said he was at the corner of Main and Fair streets shortly after 9 a. m. and saw Tierney when he heard an explosion. He was facing Wall street and saw a woman cross Wall street and proceed up Main street. When she was near the entrance to the First Dutch Church he heard an explosion and the woman fell. He ran toward her when someone shouted to "duck, someone has a gun."

Eighmey saw no one but the woman. He hid behind a car and saw William Leonard near his car. Leonard was out of his car at the time. He saw a man on the street with a gun pointed toward Leonard. Leonard stopped. There was a second shot. Eighmey said he saw the man put the gun butt over his shoulder and bend over and then the shot was fired. The man's cap flew off and the man fell to the pavement. Eighmey said he told Leonard to "get the gun." Leonard picked up the gun and Eighmey went to the aid of the woman. He placed her position as had Tierney and also described her wounds in the same manner. He said he saw a small object fall on her back and a larger one on her chest.

Eighmey said when he first saw the man he was partially out of the car with the gun. He did not know Kelly at the time.

Asked if he saw the man in the court room, Eighmey said he did. He left the witness box and went over and placed a hand on the defendant Kelly and said that he was the man he saw getting out of the car with the gun and the man who fell to the pavement after the second shot. Eighmey said he was on his hands and knees hiding behind a car when the second shot was fired but he was "pecking out" and saw the man with the gun.

He identified the gun and said it was the one he had seen pointed toward William Leonard and the same one which Leonard picked up and handed to Officer Soper. Eighmey took the rifle and indicated to the jury how it was held by the man when the second shot was fired.

Eighmey said he was watching Mrs. McHugh as she approached as he believed he knew her. She did not look back before the first shot was fired.

Scheid Is Called

Charles F. Scheid, Jr., 19, 162 Wrentham street, was called.

Scheid said he was attending high school at the time and worked at the Surplus Store. He had known Kelly for six years and had been hunting with him. On May 22, Kelly called the store about 8 p. m. and suggested to "swap" cars. Scheid said he made an appointment to see Kelly after work. They went to a tavern for a drink. Kelly told him he wanted to use his car because he wanted to see a man who owed him money. He did not want the man to recognize the car. He also said that he wanted Kelly to follow his former wife from whom he wanted to get a divorce. He said if he used his own car he would recognize it and he could not get the evidence he wanted.

Kelly asked for loan of the car for 8 a. m. on Saturday, May 20. Scheid said he parked his car in front of the place Saturday but Kelly did not show up. Kelly called at 5 p. m. Sunday, May 21. Kelly called again and said he had a blowout Saturday and could not come for the car and asked for the Scheid car for Monday morning at 8:10. They were to meet on Foxhall avenue and exchange cars. Scheid said that date was kept. Kelly appeared to be quiet and happy. Scheid said Kelly showed Kelly how to drive the car which had certain mechanical restrictions. Kelly drove it and they went to the high school where they parked the cars and Kelly drove off in the Scheid car.

Saw Rifle Before

Scheid said he had seen the Winchester rifle before, when shown the gun. He identified it as one Kelly used for deer hunting. The gun was not in the Scheid car on May 22 when it was turned over to Kelly. He identified the cap, the hat and the alarm clock, saying the hat was worn by Kelly on May 22 and the clock had been used by Kelly on a hunting trip in Woodland Valley. It was about 8:30 when Kelly drove off with the Scheid car from the high school.

On cross examination Scheid said he knew Kelly as a happy, jovial man. On May 22 he was not such a man, he was quiet. "He had a look in his eye he was glad to see me" was the way Scheid described Kelly on the hunting trips. On May 22 Scheid said Kelly did not appear to be happy. The prosecution moved to strike out the statement of Scheid as to any "look in his eye," and the jury cautioned to disregard it.

Scheid said Kelly did not smile on May 22 as was customary. He was quiet and did not appear to be happy.

At this point an adjournment was taken until today.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Radio-television stocks pushed rapidly ahead today in an otherwise unimpaired market.

That favored group tacked on gains running to $2 a share and more at times while other areas of the market swung from side to side for the most part.

Buying in television was sparked by a temporary reprieve in imposition of a new federal tax and the possibility of higher set prices.

Rails were under constant pressure that forced losses going to more than $2 in the case of the higher priced shares.

Selling orders were given despite continued high operating income reports now being made. There was one ready explanation—rails simply are falling prey to profit-taking at their first pause in the upward movement of the last few weeks.

Stals were mixed as were motors, oils, rubbers, aircraft, airlines, distillers, chemicals, motion pictures and building material issues.

Higher were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Admiral Corp., Zenith, Motorola, Homestake Mining, American Can, American Tobacco, Texas Co., Pan American Airways, and Certain-Feed.

The bond market was quiet and prices were virtually unchanged. Trading in U. S. governments was light in the over the counter market.

Rain Kills 100 Persons

Casablanca, French Morocco, Sept. 26 (AP)—A sudden torrential downpour in the mountainous region of Sefrou last night brought death to about 100 persons, it was estimated today. Authorities estimated damage at about $2,000, their surveys are not yet complete.

000. The cloudburst sent a flash flood tumbling through the course of the Aggai river. Many bridges and homes were destroyed and roads cut. Officials said the total number of dead and the total damage would probably be higher than those reported thus far because their surveys are not yet complete.

Religious School Sessions to Open Monday, Oct. 16

The 20 local churches represented by the Ulster County Church School Council have completed plans for an interdenominational school accredited by the International Council of Religious Education.

The name is the School for Christian Life and Leadership and the Rev. John Dykstra is dean. The faculty consists of Dr. Ruth Northway of Kingston, Mrs. George Moody, Fleischmanns; Dr. William Carner Cain and Dr. Ralph M. Houston.

Other appointments include Miss Ethel Hull Kingston, registrar; Kenneth Hick, librarian; Charles M. Rinschler, publicity; and Chester Baltz, Jr., programs.

The four courses offered are: Introduction to Teaching, the Pupils We Teach, Introduction to the Bible, and the Church at Work for a Christian World.

Sessions will be held for six consecutive Monday nights beginning October 16 in St. James Methodist Church, Pearl and Fair streets. All church school teachers, church members and the public are welcome to attend. Registration applications may be obtained through the local churches or by direct application to Miss Hull.

Early registration is requested in order that the first session may start promptly. As each student can only participate in two of these courses, the choice is: Introduction to Teaching 141A, and either The Pupils We Teach 140A or the Church at Work for a Christian World 151A; and the second choice being: Introduction to the Bible, and either The Pupils We Teach or the Church at Work for a Christian World.

It is planned to hold the first course from 7:30 to 8:20 with a 20 minute worship and material workshop period from 8:20 to 8:40.

Jersey Gas Price War Is Breaking Out Anew

Newark, N. J., Sept. 26 (AP)—New Jersey's gasoline price war has begun to break out in earnest again.

A spokesman for Standard Oil said prices began sagging in Camden and that competition among retailers has spread to nearly every corner of the state.

The normal price of 24.9 cents a gallon for standard brands has fallen to 18.9 in most places, and in some spots sold yesterday at 17.9.

The price-cutting was said to be concentrated in Bergen, Hudson, Essex, Camden, Union, Mercer, and Middlesex counties. However, the old prices held up in the extreme northern section of the state.

p. m. The last course will be held from 8:40 to 9:30 p. m.

As this school is accredited by the International Council on Religious Education, each student completing a course will be so certified on the Council records and also on the records of their own denomination.

Holds Line on Price

Chicago—Fido's mistress may be paying more for many items on her shopping list, but she's apt to breathe a sigh of gratitude when she approaches the dog food shelves and finds that familiar can of Rival Dog Food bearing the same price tag of ten cents. The Rival Packing Company of Chicago, which produces many millions of cans of this popular dog food a year, is holding the line on price in the face of rising costs of the various food elements which go into the finished product. As a result, Fido can be assured that his owner will not be tempted to stretch her budget by skimping on what she puts into his feeding dish.

Vets May Renew Rights on Loans Under Conditions

World War 2 veterans who have used their loan guaranty rights under the G.I. Bill may have their entitlement to V.A. guaranteed loans for homes, farms and business restored if they are able to meet certain conditions, William Sheehan, contact representative of the Kingston Veterans Administration office, said today.

The Housing Act of 1950 authorized V.A. to restore the amount of loan guaranty entitlement used by a veteran to purchase property which subsequently is taken over for public use, destroyed by fire or other natural hazard, or is "disposed of because of other compelling reasons devoid of fault on the part of the veteran."

"A further condition," Mr. Sheehan said, "is that V.A. must have been relieved of liability in connection with the government guarantee on the loan with no claim having been made against it."

Reasons Given

In defining "other compelling reasons," the V.A. official said it first must be shown that failure to restore the used entitlement would result in a "substantial hardship" to the veteran. Mr. Sheehan offered the following examples of conditions under which veterans' loan guaranty restoration may be made:

1. Reasons of health, such as where a home is disposed of because the type of dwelling or climate of the locality is injurious to the veteran or a member of his family, as evidenced by a doctor's certificate;

2. Employment reasons, a typical case being loss of employment which requires removal to another city or town, or where the veteran is transferred by his employer. In these cases, Mr. Sheehan said the reason for moving must be one which could not have been anticipated at the time the property was purchased. On the other hand, Mr. Sheehan pointed out, loss of temporary employment, or persons subject to an employer's rotation policy, as in the case of regular military personnel transferred periodically, do not qualify;

3. Such other reasons as the Veterans Administration finds in individual cases to be "compelling," where disposal of the property became a practical necessity due to factors over which the veteran had no control. Mr. Sheehan said VA headquarters in Washington, D. C., had made it clear that loan guaranty entitlement cannot be restored where the veteran's mortgage indebtedness is assumed by a third party, with VA remaining liable on the loan guarantee. Also, restoration will be made but once for any veteran, except in very unusual circumstances.

Prior to the G.I. loan amendments contained in the Housing Act of 1950, approved April 22, an eligible veteran was entitled to a VA guarantee of 50 per cent of a real estate loan, up to a maximum guarantee of $4,000. For veterans who have used none of their loan guaranty entitlement, the Act raised the home loan guarantee to 60 per cent of the loan, and a maximum of $7,500.

Mr. Sheehan said that where a veteran had used none of his loan guaranty entitlement other than that which is restored under the new provision, he will be considered as having used none of his loan rights and, therefore, eligible for the higher guarantee.

Where to Apply

Applications by veterans in Kingston for restoration of used entitlement should be made to the Loan Guaranty Officer of the Albany VA Regional Office, Watervliet Arsenal, Albany 1, New York, if that office issued the loan guaranties concerned. A written statement should be submitted setting forth the reasons for the request; details of the damage, destruction, condemnation, loss or disposal of the property; the amount realized from the sale, condemnation award or insurance settlement and the disposition made of it; and whether the property is to be restored.

Requests based on reasons of health or employment should be accompanied by a doctor's certificate confirming the health factor, or a statement from the employer evidencing loss of employment or of transfer and the reasons for it, should be supplied. All applications should include veterans certificate of eligibility. If one was issued to him; otherwise, his discharge certificate.

Forest Fires Still Rage

Edmonton, Alberta, Sept. 26 (AP)—Checked somewhat by scattered rainfall, 100-odd forest fires still raged today in the general area of the Alaska highway in northern British Columbia and Alberta. On the southern fringe of the fire belt half an inch of rain fell yesterday at Grande Prairie, Alta., and small amounts were recorded elsewhere. But it was estimated that three days' rain would be needed to douse flames raging through terrain where firefighting is impossible. Smoke from the fires drifted 2,000 miles eastward Sunday and Monday and darkened parts of Ontario and the eastern United States.

Education Board Rule Questioned

A question of legality on the required referendum for authorization of the method to be used in selecting members of education boards, may affect this city, an Associated Press dispatch from Albany indicated today.

The local Common Council considered the proposal last June for selection of members of the local board of education through appointment by the mayor as formerly, and the proposal then contained provision for a referendum vote in November, as required by the state.

The dispatch from Albany said that counsel for the state education department says there is a "serious question of legality," in the plans of some cities to put on the ballot Nov. 7 a proposition calling for voters to elect members of board of education.

Appointed by Mayor Board members in these cities now are appointed by the mayor. But under a 1950 law, all cities of less than 125,000 population having boundaries the same as their school districts must decide by this November whether they want the appointive system continued.

Charles A. Brind, Jr., education department counsel, said yesterday that the Court of Appeals had decided that referendums of this type could be held at the same time as a general election only if special facilities were provided.

That means, he explained, that voting on the proposition would have to be separate from the ballot for state offices—by separate paper ballots or by separate voting machines.

Brind emphasized that no one yet had questioned the validity of the referendums scheduled in several cities.

The counsel gave his informal opinion when a reporter asked whether it would be legal to place the proposition on the regular voting machines.

"I think there would be a serious question of legality if it (the proposition) were on the same machine," he replied.

The referendums are scheduled in Schenectady, Troy and Kingston, and in several other cities. The Education Department did not have a complete list of the cities.

Mumps Vaccine Available

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—For the first time a vaccine against mumps is available. It is not recommended for regular use on all children. That disease, long considered more troublesome to adults than to children, may on the basis of recent evidence have dangerous complications in children as well. Mumps affects approximately 250,000 American children and adults a year. Between 60 and 80 per cent of the population has had it at some time.

Asks U. S. Quit Policies Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Budget Bureau has suggested that the government get out of the business of writing life insurance for servicemen and veterans. Since the Korean war started, that billion-dollar business has been booming. A Veterans Administration official told a reporter today that sales of National Service Life Insurance (N.S.L.I.) policies to servicemen are running at an 8,000 a day clip.

Girls Held in 'Brassiere' Theft

Technicalities Block Trial Of Two Women in Florida

Miami, Fla., Sept. 26 (AP)—Legal technicalities arose today to block prosecution of young women who, authorities say, orally admitted taking more than $100,000 from the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., counting room by concealing coins in their brassieres.

Eight young women held in the case were released on instructions from Dade County Circuit Judge George E. Holt, who set a habeas corpus hearing for today and ordered the girls freed in custody of their attorney.

Assistant county solicitor Michael F. Zarowny said the girls admitted stuffing rolls of quarters in their brassieres in the counting room where streams of silver came daily from pay station phones. They admitted carrying as many as four $15 rolls of quarters in their brassieres at a time, he said. (Each roll weighed 12½ ounces.)

Why there were no guards to check on the incoming cash and how the girls managed to convert some of the silver into currency and bonds without arousing suspicion was not explained. James M. Phillips, district manager of the telephone company, said that on advice of counsel he would not sign a complaint. Phillips said he couldn't swear to the sum taken nor to the time it was taken.

Refuse to Sign With that development, Zarowny said, the girls refused to sign statements they had made earlier in the day. "The only thing we've got is a confession," he said. "We can't introduce that until we establish a crime and we can't establish a crime because there is no way to tell if the money was taken, nor how much."

Fourteen persons, including the girls, their husbands or boyfriends, were rounded up after I. Ray Mills, public safety director in suburban West Miami, reported finding suitcases stuffed with nearly $5,000 in an automobile at the West Miami home of one of the employees.

Reported Theft Mills first cracked the case Sunday after receiving a call from Rita Orr, 18, whose sister-in-law, Marie Orr, 21, worked in the counting room. Rita reported theft of $5,000 from a cedar chest in her home.

Mills said that while he was there Mrs. Betty Corrigan, 23,

Asks Fire Probe

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford this morning requested police investigation of a fire which broke out in a tool shed at the Church of the Comforter Cemetery on Wynkoop Place, about 8:35 a. m. The fire, Sanford said, was of incendiary origin. The roof of the shed was considerably damaged, but prompt discovery of the fire by passersby prevented its spread to a frame garage less than five feet away.

Street Job Starts

Work of resurfacing East Chester street was begun this week by the Board of Public Works. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, board president, announced that the entire street will be resurfaced according to present plans. Last year, the project was completed from the city line to Tammany street. This year, the work is progressing from Tammany street to Broadway.

Building Is Taken

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 26—The British today requisitioned the Communist party's Ruhr headquarters in Duesseldorf to help house new British troops being sent to Germany as a bulwark against communism. A British official ordered the party to leave behind a printing press and expensive installations in the five-story headquarters, described as the most luxurious Communist office building in Europe.

Teamsters Go on Strike

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Railway Express Agency business in New York city and northern New Jersey was down to a trickle today in a strike by the A.F.L. Brotherhood of Teamsters. The union, which walked out Saturday night in a contract dispute, refused a request yesterday from the National Mediation Board to go back to work pending new negotiations.

Male birds of paradise perform a "courtship dance" in mating season.

Another counting room employee, dove up and he found three suitcases in her car, two filled with quarters and the third with currency.

Mills said the loss would run to "hundreds of thousands of dollars" but police checked back only two years. The statute of limitations protects beyond that time.

Seoul Is Seized

enemy lines at Inchon and a quick drive for Seoul. Eleven days elapsed between the Inchon beachhead landing and MacArthur's announcement of Seoul's liberation.

The capital not only was a symbolic prize but the hub of virtually all road and rail lines into southeast Korea where more than 100,000 Reds were floundering away from the old allied defense box.

MacArthur said Seoul's Red garrison was fleeing northward in disorder.

Appeared to Be Shattered The Reds appeared to be shattered everywhere as a unified fighting force.

Allied forces hammered out sharp new gains throughout the whole battle zone—in what may be the war's conclusive offensive—against resistance ranging from bitter to feeble.

South Koreans thrust 35 miles out of the old beachhead all along the northern wall.

American and British infantrymen gained nearly that same distance along the western perimeter. And a powerful task force raced 70 miles out of the northwest corner in four days, striking within 40 miles of the link-up with the second front Seoul-Inchon beachhead.

The link-up, expected hourly, may seal scores of thousands of Red Korean troops in the south. They will have the task of escaping piecemeal to the north over secondary roads and rugged hills.

Fighting inside Seoul raged throughout Monday night and into Tuesday.

Attack Beaten Off

A P. correspondent Tom Lambert and Bill Ross said U. S. Marines beat off a massed counter-attack in a fierce all-night battle. The Reds hurled their largest attack of the Seoul fighting at the First Marine Regiment about 500 yards south of the governor's palace.

Marines firing bazookas kayaked 11 Red tanks and broke the assault. "We may be able to take just about all of the city today (Tuesday)," a marine general said in the forenoon. "If the Reds shot their main bolt last night."

Front intelligence officers and air observers said 2,000 Reds fled the city in about 100 vehicles Monday night.

One marine battalion reported killing 1,800 Reds in 36 hours on Seoul's northwest outskirts. Hundreds of Reds were slain elsewhere in the city and many were captured.

But frontline officers estimated that between 3,000 and 5,000 Reds still fought in a city ripped by small arms and mortar fire and burning in four battle areas.

Communications Limited Limited communications prevented any hour-by-hour account of the battle. Early Tuesday, marines were reported near Duk Soo, the granite palace where Russians and Americans in the past had met in vain on proposals to unify Korea.

Duk Soo is considered the heart of a somewhat lop-sided city. It is in the northern section. Around it cluster modern municipal buildings and hotels.

Allied warplanes lashed at the retreating Reds. There was no immediate estimate of how many had been killed in strafing attacks all along the front. A.P. Correspondent William Jordan reported from advanced air headquarters that 1,500 Reds were killed in one attack.

B-29s hit behind Red lines at travel arteries.

A South African Air Force squadron liaison staff arrived in Tokyo. The squadron, composed of Second World War veterans, will fly with U.N. forces in Korea. U.N. planes made a mass drop of 2,160,000 surrender leaflets on Red Koreans.

To Address Local Reserve Officers At First Meeting

WILLIAM M. THOMAS

Lt. Commander William Minot Thomas, president of the Department of New York of the Reserve Officers Association will address the opening meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association Wednesday night at the Tvaadskill Country Club, Lawrence A. Quilty, president of the local chapter, announced today.

Commander Thomas was elected president of the Department of New York at the convention held in Kingston last May. The subject of his talk will be the "Reserve Officer Versus the Civilian."

The speaker will talk on the position of the reserve officer in civilian defense and how the civilian officer should be used in this important volunteer assignment.

Commander Thomas was educated to be a civil engineer, having been graduated from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute after following engineering for a few years he entered finance.

As a result of his specialized training, he was assigned as naval advisor to the War Production Board in World War 2. Since the termination of World War 2, Commander Thomas, a resident of Albany, has been a registered financial consultant and a member of his own firm, Kals, Voorhis and Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange.

One of Safest Places

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—

"One of the safest places to be in the event of an atomic explosion is in a frozen food locker," members of the New York State Frozen Food Locker Association have been told. George R. Schiemer of Fort Plain told convention delegates yesterday that "radiation will not penetrate the insulation of the (frozen food) room."

As Pegler Sees It

On this point I made specific inquiry of Mr. Donohue.

Surely if he had been charged with "corruption" in his official conduct he would feel that he had been "injured."

"Do you feel that you were injured?" I asked Mr. Donohue.

"I do not want to get into a controversy with the judge," he answered, "but I do not feel that I was injured."

Judge Harris, as I say resorts to deviousness. A layman or even a lawyer might not be able to solve the subtlety of his remark that no "evidence" was adduced to show that she was a had security risk."

But I did not say any such evidence was "adduced." He knows I did not write that. I said evidence to this effect was "produced" by the trial as a whole. Not "adduced" but "produced."

The letter from Mrs. Roosevelt to the wife of a Communist implied beyond serious question that she had access to the F.B.I. files concerning Communists. The particular file W.A.A. that of Kermit Charles Krolek, a brother-in-law of Rathborne. He and Rathborne married sisters. No person that is friendly with Communists is a good "security risk" with F.B.I. files on Communists or ex-Communists. In fact no unauthorized person is supposed to be allowed to see such files. She certainly was not an "authorized" person and she has been flagrantly careless if not guilty of her association.

Judge Harris writes: "The trial testimony did not establish that Mrs. Roosevelt was able to get her hands on any F.B.I. files or reports relating to Bridges." That is misleading. The judge knows no statement was made that she examined files on Bridges. The Krolek file was the only one referred to.

"No letter suggesting that she had access to confidential information was offered in evidence," he writes. Nor did I say it was "offered in evidence." On the contrary, as Judge Harris knows, I said it was withheld. However, he fails to disclose the fact that he read the letter.

"It is possible," he says, "that she may have written a letter to a friend or friends of the defendant some nine years before, but the record is barren of proof of its contents." Exactly, the record is barren because it was kept out after Judge Harris read it.

The judge writes further that the defense attorneys asked a question about the letter but that the question did not imply that Mrs. Roosevelt had had access to confidential information. Again the judge is misleading. I did not even discuss this defense question much less suggest that it made any implication whatever.

"Furthermore," he continues, "no offer of proof was made by counsel for the defendant of any letter written by Mrs. Roosevelt. There we are again. Of course no such proof was offered by the defense. Nor did I say they offered it. They couldn't get their hands on it."

"At most," he says, "the record discloses that Mrs. Roosevelt may have written a letter to Mrs. Rathborne in 1941. . . . Its contents were and are unknown."

Unknown to whom? To the defense? Yes. To the record? Yes. To the public? Yes.

But "unknown" to Judge Harris? No. Judge Harris held it in his hand and read it and he knows its contents.

Ulster Heritage Is Akin To London Recommendation

An article in the London Times Literary Supplement in which the author advocates a system of small, decentralized museums is of particular interest to Ulster county residents because of the rich historic traditions of the area and the existence of many Colonial period homes.

The London Times article, which appeared Aug. 25, 1950, stresses the point that small museums could be advantageously dispersed among historic mansions "which are otherwise doomed to demolition or put to make-shift uses."

LOVES EASY RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION!

"Till recently I had to depend on unpleasant medicines for constipation. Never thought I would solve this problem. Then started eating toasty ALL-BRAN. So effective!" Mrs. E. Kaupman, Clinton, N. J., Box 393. Just one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. This may be your answer to constipation due to lack of dietary bulk. Simply eat an ounce of crispy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Done on Small Scale

It is interesting to note that in the Kingston area what the author advocates has been done on a small scale. Three old stone buildings have been put to this use. One, the Senate House, is state-owned; the other two are owned by private associations, but all are open for public inspection and all contain historic items and furnishings of Colonial and early 19th century periods.

The Senate House, at the corner of North Front street and Clinton avenue, is so called because the first duly elected Senate of New York state met in its first session in that building on September 10, 1777. It was then the home of Abraham Van Gaasbeek. It remained in private hands until 1887, when it was purchased by the state for preservation as a historic site. In 1927 a two-story stone museum was built on the grounds to house paintings, handicrafts, historical mementos, books and manuscripts.

Another Kingston building, formerly a home, that has become a museum is the Daughters of the American Revolution Chapter House, situated on the triangular lot where Crown and Green streets meet. The house, which there is evidence leading to the belief it was built prior to 1695, was formally opened as the D.A.R. chapter house on June 13, 1908.

On Route 209 near Marlborough stands the Louis Bevier home, now headquarters for the Ulster County Historical Society.

Both these old stone buildings, owned by organizations, are open to the public. They are furnished with period articles donated by various Ulster county residents.

One thing all three of these near-by museums have to recommend them are collections of early area paintings. The Senate House is noted for its John Vanderlyn collection, and the work of other local artists of past days, including the flower studies of Julia Dillon, are on display at the other buildings.

A visit to any of the vicinity museums will give the spectator a good general picture of Colonial life in and around Kingston. More concentrated and limited in scope, the collections in such small museums are not apt to confuse the visitor or cause him to "wander passively as a lost soul," as the London Times article states happens often in the large museums.

A Mrs. Harrison, curator of the small London Geoffrey Museum, is quoted in the article as saying a visit to a museum "should be something of a visual adventure."

"Visual adventures" abound in Ulster county, not only in the small museums mentioned, but in the many old stone houses throughout the area. Several, operated as antique shops, contain numerous bits of historical matter. Seekers of historical items can also find many items of interest in the several churches in the county that date their founding back to colonial times.

Married at Holy Cross Church

Mrs. George D. Kakoullis is the former Miss Vasiliki Joanides, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Joanides, of 103 Franklin street. The wedding was held Sunday. The groom is from Warren, Ohio. (Brentwood Photo.)

Vasiliki Joanides Becomes Bride of George D. Kakoullis

Miss Vasiliki Joanides, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Joanides, 103 Franklin street, became the bride Sunday of George D. Kakoullis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Demetree Kakoullis of Warren, Ohio, in a double ring ceremony at Holy Cross Church.

The traditional Greek Orthodox ceremony was performed by the Rev. Anastasios of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Newburgh, assisted by the Rev. Michaelides of Fitchburg, Mass., and the Rev. Stanley Dean, pastor of Holy Cross. Walter Kidd was the organist, and the church was decorated with white poinsettias at the altar, banked with white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a scalloped off-shoulder neckline trimmed with seed pearls, and a high illusion yoke. The full skirt fell to a cathedral train. Her veil of imported Belgian lace formed a long train, and was caught with mantilla effect to a halo of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white orchids and swansons.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Sparshides of Brooklyn, cousin of the bride, who wore a gown of green tulle with a tunic effect and trimmed with lace. Her large green picture hat was also trimmed with lace and she carried a cascade of bronze orchids trimmed with English ivy.

Bridesmaids were Miss Amylou Millington, 99 Clinton avenue, and Miss Elaine Sparshides of Brooklyn. Miss Millington wore a gold gown with matching gold helmet, and carried a cascade of green orchids with ivy. Miss Sparshides wore a green gown with a gold helmet, and carried a cascade of gold orchids with ivy.

The best man was Leo Larios, 97 Main street, and the ushers were Stasia Roudis of Kingston and Andrew Michael of New York.

After a wedding dinner for 150 guests at the Governor Clinton Hotel with music for dining and dancing by George Strates and his orchestra, of New York, the couple left for a wedding trip by car to Canada and Ohio. Following the bride wore a gold suit with a black velvet hat and black accessories, with a corsage of white orchids. The couple will live with the bride's parents.

St. James Festival To Feature Booths, Circus, Marionettes

"Some very special entertainment for all ages" will be offered at the annual Autumn Festival of the St. James Church October 4 and 5, a church spokesman announced today. The elaborate miniature "Egghemey Circus" will be on display and "Rip Van Winkle" will be presented for the first time in Kingston by the Herick Marionettes.

The Egghemey Circus, with 200 pieces of equipment in addition to seven tents, is a three-ring, wild animal model circus entirely handmade by Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Elmhurst and their three sons, of 94 Highland avenue.

It has been shown throughout the eastern section of the United States for the benefit of churches and various organizations, and has the largest menagerie of any model circus. It has been in the building for about 25 years, in association with the national group, Circus Model Builders and Owners Association.

Purely a hobby, the model has as one of its aims the promotion of the American circus as an amusement institution. Several new pieces are added to the Egghemey Circus each year.

Among the interesting booths at the festival will be the variety booth of Mrs. Viola Babcock and Mrs. Floyd Rich, and the booth under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Qumby.

The festival will be open to the public from 3 p. m. both days until 8 p. m. when the marionette program will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herick. Tickets for the marionette show may be obtained from Mrs. Odell Black, Mrs. Theron Culver, Mrs. Harry Reppert, as well as many W.S.C.S. members.

New Paltz Teachers College Opens Friday; Dormitories Will Be Completed Shortly

New Paltz State Teachers College will open for new students Friday, September 29. Following a general welcoming meeting at 10 a. m. the freshmen will engage in a week of orientation activities including library tours, health conferences, speech interviews, and meetings with faculty and student counselors. One of the traditional Freshmen Week events is a hike to Sky Top at Lake Mohonk.

A group of 97 freshmen women who were originally assigned to the dormitory will be housed for a short time in temporary college quarters. "It is our feeling," said dean of students Donald G. Whitledge, "that these new students should live on campus during their first semester at college. They will be transferred to the new dormitory as soon as the necessary sections are completed."

The wing of the new dormitory which is reserved for men students will be ready for occupancy upon their arrival. Upperclass students will register in the existing dormitory.

Junior and senior women will move into one completed wing of the new dormitory. Sophomore women who had reserved rooms in that building will be housed in college-approved private residences in the village. These 67 students will move into the dormitory upon its completion.

"We realize," said Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college, "that the contractors building the dormitory have met with many difficulties during recent months. They have cooperated in many ways to put two of the six living units in shape so that students may move in."

"Home-owners who have volunteered to take the other students scheduled for the new dormitory into their homes temporarily have demonstrated a fine spirit of understanding and cooperation. The college is indebted to them," Dr. Haggerty said.

Harcourt in Modena, until Nov. 1.

Dairyman Lauds Group in County

Signing of 175 Ulster county dairy farmers to the cooperative Milk for Health program by local committeemen has made a substantial contribution to the 28,000 members, representing a majority of the New York milk-shed producers, now participating. This is in addition to another 1,000 already supporting upstate markets.

County Chairman Ira Saxe of West Hurley, in complimenting members of his committee who have contributed such able work said that this has demonstrated most effectively the eagerness of local dairymen to use self-help in marketing surplus and getting more fluid milk into more diets for the greater benefit of all, in these critical times.

Pressing the drive to complete the sign-up, which aims at establishing a New York Dairy Council, coupled with the consumer advertising program of the American Dairy Association, are the following committeemen: Ira Saxe, West Hurley, chairman, Charles Allen, Stone Ridge, Joseph Gilbert Hurley, Neal Hardenbert, Stone Ridge, Horton Pearson, West Camp, John Schrieber, New Paltz.

Red Cross Helps On Giving Notice

One phase of the National Red Cross services that the average layman knows little about is Casualty Notification. This means Home Service Workers of the local Red Cross stand ready to assist in locating the relatives of men who have been injured or killed in battle.

The armed services send notice by telegraph to the next of kin, but in cases the next of kin or the emergency address cannot be reached the Red Cross steps in to locate such persons. After the Red Cross has provided the proper address and sent it to the armed service branch involved, a supplementary notice is sent to the next of kin stating what benefits he or she may be eligible for. If the next of kin shall need help in applying for these benefits, he or she may obtain instruction from the Home Service Department of the local Red Cross chapter which always stands ready to assist the families of men in the service.

Amateur Boxing Returns to Auditorium for Fall Opening October 5

Highland Poised for Opener With Green KHS Squad

Vince Salvati And Heavyweights To Be Featured

B'nai B'rith Resumes Active Promotion

Amateur boxing returns to the municipal auditorium after a several months layoff on Thursday, October 5, when B'nai B'rith resumes active promotion of Adirondack A.A.U. amateur boxing.

Vince Salvati, the brilliant Troy lightweight, who has had a successful summer in upstate arenas, heads the card, according to an announcement made today by Ben Becker, of Albany, Adirondack A.A.U. boxing commissioner, who also serves as matchmaker for B'nai B'rith.

Salvati, who was rapidly earning fame as the greatest crowd pleaser in local boxing at the time the bouts were discontinued, will be paired with Kenny Sampson, of Boston in the five-pound feature.

Heavyweights Listed
Two heavyweight attractions will be included in the top row rounders, Becker said, and will serve to introduce a new Middle-town star in Vince Elia.

Elia, a 195-pounder, has been something of a sensation in amateur circles in the short time he has been boxing, Becker reported, and should prove a tremendous crowd pleaser.

A new Boston Jewish heavyweight, Ronnie Greenfield, will furnish the test for Elia in his local debut. The Bostonian has compiled an excellent record in the New England area where amateur boxing has been developed to a high peak.

Joe Hudson Nixed
An old favorite, Joe Hudson, the 210-pound sledgehammer puncher of Albany, is barred in the opening Joe weight feature against Jimmy Adams, 195, of the Boston stable.

Hudson is a rugged specimen who is regarded as one of the heaviest punchers in the Adirondack A.A.U. He has a long list of knockouts to his credit but in Adams he will face one of the most highly regarded young heavyweights in New England.

For a change of pace, two crack flyweights, the popular Art Prince of Boston and Leo Jackson, of Troy, are scheduled in the second flyweight.

The remainder of the card will be announced at a later date. In the meantime, B'nai B'rith will accept orders for ticket reservations.

The slightest insinuation by Kingston High School football rosters that Coach Bill Burke's 1950 Maroons face a serious proposition next Saturday at Highland is likely to bring a snicker of derision from area football observers.

Down in Highland, Coach Frank La Falce, an extremely emotional young man when Kingston and Highland fortunes are compared will throw up his arms in despair upon hearing that a lot of folks think his football machine had a good chance to upend the immature, green and definitely inexperienced K.H.S. representatives.

"What are they trying to do up there...give us the phoney buildup?" we can hear him wail. The briefest possible rebuttal is this:

Does Yale play Harvard in the first game of the season? of course not. The fellow making up the football schedule would be on the 50-20 rolls in a jiffy.

But it seems to be different in the Highland-Kingston setup. The southern Uterians play their "big game" from the opening kickoff. What happens after that doesn't matter much, if they can whip the hated Maroons, who are coached, as you know, by the man who made a reputation beating Kingston—Bill Burke.

The Exodus?
There has been considerable talk that Highland would drop Kingston after this year's game, principally because Burke had built the Maroon football machine to a point where Highland could no longer challenge it on equal terms.

This is the same Highland, mind you, that kicked Kingston around in shameless fashion for several years until certain influential Kingstonians (one in particular) figured that it was time to stop offering the other check. They dangled a dazzling offer in front of Bill Burke's eyes and he accepted. He got whipped in the first meeting between the schools, but this tide turned toward Kingston, although never has a local team been able to grind a Highland squad into the dust.

This is due to the fact that, while Highland is willing to sacrifice the remainder of its schedule for the supreme thrill of scheduling the Maroons, the Kingston grid-ders have a full DUSO League schedule to occupy their attentions.

Speed, But No Experience
Getting down to cases, the inexperience of the 1950 Maroon is not a rhetorical sham created by some imaginative typewriter keyboard. It's there in the flesh, young, untamed and waiting to be tested in the heat and fire of competition.

The tentative backfield array, for instance, gives you an idea of just how far the Maroon will have to travel to match the brilliant combination that walked off the field a 13-12 victor over Newburgh Academy last Thanksgiving Day.

How many of these young men will old line Maroon followers recognize? We mean aside from Harold Acker, the East Kingston speedster and, perhaps, John Kozlowski. A lot of new folk have moved in where Harvey Keyes and company moved out. Frankie Madore, Al Carlingo, Carl Stroble, Lee Jackson, Speed boys all, but short on that vital factor—experience.

Fred Lannartz, understudy to Harvey Keyes for two seasons, and counted on as the No. 1 back for 1950, twisted an ankle a few days ago and very likely could be finished for the season before it ever started.

The Highland opportunists could take advantage of these greenies come next Saturday, despite the wailing you hear from the south,

CITY LEAGUE WINNERS HONORED AT BANQUET

Officials and sponsors of the Chez Emile and Boulevard Gulf Gas squads were honored at the annual banquet of the City Baseball League last night at the Embassy. Prizes were awarded to various individual champions but the center of attraction were the trophies for the regular seasonal title and the Shaughnessy playoff. In usual order, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Charles J. Turk, City League president; Joe Hoffman, Chez Emile manager; Emil Jordan, sponsor of the Chez Emile squad; Ed Farrelle, sponsor of Boulevard Gulf, and Danny Cornuiter, Boulevard manager and leading batsman in the circuit, with the Shaughnessy trophy. DiMaggio's Booming Bat Playing Major Role in Yank Pennant Drive

Clipper Near 400 Since September 1

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Poorless Joe DiMaggio is playing the leading role again in the New York Yankees' mad dash to their 17th American League pennant.

DiMaggio's booming bat has blazed the Yanks into the commanding 3½ game lead they enjoy today. Only a miracle will prevent the Yanks from winning their second straight championship.

Casey Stengel's marauders have six games left to play and need to win only four to sew up the pennant. If they win only three the runner-up Detroit Tigers would have to take all of their seven just to tie the Bombers. Three Yankee victories would eliminate the third place Boston Red Sox.

As a matter of fact, with a little luck the Yanks can eliminate the Tigers today. All they have to do is beat Washington twice while St. Louis knocks off Detroit twice.

Since Sept. 1
DiMaggio has been knocking the tar out of the ball since the stretch drive began Sept. 1. The big guy has hit safely in his last 17 games and in 21 out of 22.

This terrific 381 pace has lifted DiMaggio's season average over the 300 mark for the first time this year. During this streak DiMaggio has belted out 34 hits with half of the blows falling for extra bases—eight doubles and nine home runs.

Allie Reynolds and Red Ford, sensational rookie left-handers, were on the mound yesterday as the Yanks turned back the Washington Senators, 8-3 and 7-4.

Reynolds scattered nine hits to hang up his 15th victory in the opener and Ford granted only seven in bagging his ninth without a set-back in the finale.

DiMaggio was the big gun in both games. He drove out three of the Yanks' 25 hits in Reynolds' triumph. In the nightcap DiMaggio poled a three-run double to ignite a six run third inning rally.

Bosox Sweep Pair
The Red Sox kept their faint hopes alive by sweeping a doubleheader from the hopeless Philadelphia Athletics, 8-0 and 3-0, in the only other American League activity.

Mel Parnell blanked the A's on three hits in the opener to post his 18th victory. Harry Taylor, recently purchased from the Brooklyn organization, shut-out the Athletics on two safeties in the finale.

The Philadelphia Phillies made some hay in their National League pennant drive. The Phils divided a doubleheader with the Braves in Boston while the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers split a day-night twin bill with the New York Giants to remain five games back.

Philadelphia now needs to win only four of its remaining seven games to clinch its first pennant since 1915. If the Phils win only three games the Dodgers would be forced to take all of their nine to tie the Whiz Kids.

Ken Heintzelman, making his first start since July 30, pitched the Phils to a 12-4 victory in the opener.

Konstanty Clipped
The Braves took the nightcap, 5-3, to spoil Jim Konstanty's

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Batting, Joe DiMaggio, Yanks—collected five hits and drove home four runs to lead New York to 8-3 and 7-4 doubleheader victory over Washington.

Pitching, Harry Taylor, Red Sox—pitched Boston to 3-0, two-hit victory over Philadelphia in his American League starting debut.

Baseball Meeting

The Catskill Mountain Baseball League will hold its final organizational meeting, tonight at 8 o'clock at Excelsior Hotel. By-laws will be adopted and the league will formally incorporate. A final selection of franchises will also be made at that time.

Goodman Is 'In' As Batting Leader

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—Harring a terrific slump, handymen Billy Goodman of the Boston Red Sox has all but clinched the American League batting championship, clicking at .335 with eight games to go.

The portly, 24-year-old swinger who is now playing his third fielding position with Boston at third base, held a 17 point edge over his nearest rival, George Kell of the Detroit Tigers.

Kell, the 1919 champion, has seven games left. He won the crown last season with .342, a fraction above Boston's Ted Williams.

Goodman slipped three points last week with five hits in 17 trips, but so did Kell who dropped to .334 with seven blows in 26 AB's.

Entering the final week, other leaders through last Sunday's games were Larry Doby, Cleveland, .332; Hank Bauer, New York, .329; Hoos Evers, Detroit, .327; Phil Rizzuto, New York, and Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .324 apiece; Walt Dwyer, Boston, and Al Zarilla, Boston, .323; and Yogi Berra, New York, .319.

Huntington, W. Va.—Joey Maxim, 179, Cleveland, knocked out Johnny Swanson, 176, Buffalo, N. Y. (3).

Tunney Expects Quick Kayo in Title Bout

And Joe Louis is The Man He Picks

By MURRAY ROSE
New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—With the Joe Louis-Ezzard Charles fight only a day away, fight experts still were disagreeing violently on the outcome of the heavyweight championship bout at Yankee stadium tomorrow night.
Gene Tunney, the only retired, undefeated heavyweight champion to stay retired, was among those on the Louis bandwagon.
"Joe will knock him out in five rounds," said Tunney.
Tunney and the others who predict a Louis victory, believe that Joe is going to catch Ezzard at least once and that will be enough. A fighter's punch is the last thing he loses, and the Bomber, even at 36, hasn't shown any signs of weakness in the power department yet.
The Charles backers, headed by Fight Manager Vic Marsilio, want that Ezzard is the most underrated heavyweight challenger since Tunney, himself, first stepped into the ring against Dempsey.
Manager Sam Kayo, Marsilio, a canny judge of box-

Shandaken Closes With 24th Victory

Shandaken closed out its 1950 baseball season by defeating the Ashokan Indians, 6 to 4, Sunday on the Shandaken diamond for its 24th victory in 28 games.
The game was a replay of the widely discussed "interrupted game" of last week in which Shandaken led 6-0 at the end of six and one-half innings.
Stubby Delamater checked the Indians with four hits but Shandaken miscues and the absence of several heavy hitting regulars forced the winners to come behind with a four-run barrage in the fourth. Ashokan scored three runs in the first inning and led 4-1 when Shandaken pushed across three tallies in the fourth to lead 5-4. The final run came in the seventh.
Bob Kelly led the nine-hit attack on Hanner with a trio of singles, while Bob Rybinaker, playing his final game before joining the Marines, stroked two singles.
Bud Jackson collected two of the four Ashokan safeties. The lone extra base blow was a double by Ashokan's Personous.

Robbie Crowds Stan For Title

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—There's a fight brewing in the National League between Stan Musial and Jackie Robinson—their batting title that is.
Currently, Musial, the St. Louis slugger, holds the upper hand with a .345 average. But Robinson, the defending champion, is closing fast. The Brooklyn second baseman boosted his average four points last week to .337, while Musial, who has been hampered by a cold, slipped seven markers.
Musial has connected for 185 hits—the most in the loop—in 536 at bats. Robinson, playing seven fewer games, has connected safely 161 times in 478 tries. Figures include games of Sunday, September 24.

Brooklyn's young power man, Duke Snider, is tied with veteran Walker Cooper of the Boston Braves for the No. 3 post. Each is hitting .316, one point better than the Cincinnati strongboy, Ted Kluszczyk.

Autumn Cagers Set For Opener

The Y.M.C.A. Autumn Basketball League launches its new policy of a split league, with two games on the Y court tonight.

The eight teams in the circuit have been divided in classes A and B on the basis of previous experience.

The first week's schedule:
Tuesday, Sept. 26
(A Division)
7:30 p. m.—Harry's Angels vs. Shaw's Grocery.
8:30 p. m.—Potter Bros. vs. Chez Emile.

Wednesday, Sept. 27
(B Division)
7:30 p. m.—Ulster Park vs. Accord.
8:30 p. m.—Schuler's Inn vs. Suss Five.

Pan Am Gets Airlines
Jet City, N. J., Sept. 26 (AP)—A check for $17,450,000 changed hands last night and American Overseas Airlines was formally absorbed by Pan American World Airways. But the windup of the huge merger left still in doubt the question of whether maintenance workers will strike to protest layoffs resulting from the deal. Announcement that 363 ground crew workers would be laid off because of the merger led to the strike threat by the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union.

Accused of Dope Peddling
New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—A 24-year-old Bronx man was arrested yesterday and accused by police of peddling dope capsules that were snatched up by "teen-aged children at $1.50 a shot. He is Raymond Varquez, described by police as the "biggest dope operator in the East Bronx. He was booked on a charge of selling narcotics. Two 22-year-old companions were accused of possessing narcotics.

Ulster County Trapshoot On Sunday

Glasco sharpshooters will defend their scratch and handicap trapshooting titles in the Federated Sportsmen's Ulster county championship shoot on Sunday, October 1, at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club traps.
The defending individual champion is James Guerrieri of Rosendale.
With prospects for a record-breaking entry, rules and regulations governing the competition were announced today by Joe R. Zeeh, chairman of the tournament committee.
All shooters will be handicapped by the handicap committee from previous scores at Federation shoots, and if no scores are available, each man should have at least two members from his club to verify his classification.
Championships will be decided in both scratch and handicap classes in the team event. The singles title will be contested from scratch.
Glasco No. 1 is the defending handicap champion, while Glasco No. 2 will seek to retain the scratch trophy.
The Shogren system will be used for scoring both the team and individual shooting. Shells for the teams are to be purchased from the Federation.
Competition in the team event starts at 10 a. m., with the individual event following. Captains are requested to register teams as soon as they arrive on the grounds.

Rickey Says He's Still Available, But for Brooklyn or Pittsburgh?

Brooklyn, Sept. 26 (AP)—Branch Rickey says he's still available as Brooklyn general manager—but the chances are slim that he'll be back with the Dodgers next year.
The bushy-browed baseball genius called a press conference last night to explain why he sold his 25 per cent of the Brooklyn stock for a reported $1,000,000.
"I received a very fine offer," said Rickey who admitted he will be 69 on Dec. 26. "Health was not a factor."
"My health is good and I have no plans for retiring from baseball. I am still available if they want me in Brooklyn," Rickey said his interest in the club the other day to William Zeckendorf, a New York real estate operator. The other owners of the club, however, have two months in which to equal Zeckendorf's offer if they want to purchase the stock.
The Double Talk
In Los Angeles, Zeckendorf said "I hope Rickey won't leave the organization. I'd like to see him stay as general manager." When the deal first was announced, however, Zeckendorf said the transaction was arranged by Pittsburgh Pirate owner John Galbreath "and I think he (Galbreath) wants to get Rickey out of Brooklyn and over to Pittsburgh."
To confuse the picture more, Rickey, at the press conference, later declared "I refuse to discuss the future. I've had a happy association in Brooklyn." Rickey said he wasn't sure exactly but he thought his contract expired in the latter part of October.

Sources close to the club are certain that Rickey won't be back for various reasons.
One is a huge salary, believed to exceed the $125,000 Ted Williams receives from the Red Sox. Another is the drop in Brooklyn attendance plus the possible loss of the pennant to Philadelphia after Rickey apologized the Rev. Giles. "I Brooklyn had been picked to win forgot about the wedding."

Waiting at the Altar
Wollaton, England (AP)—The Rev. M. F. Giles reversed the pattern and left the bride and groom waiting at the altar. Arriving nearly an hour late, he found the couple already signing the marriage register after having taken the vows in front of a hurriedly summoned substitute. "I'm sorry," he said.

Exciting Work
London, Ont. (AP)—Walter Albert Stevens is wondering whether he took the right job. One day he had to chase two men for several blocks after they had refused to pay for their breakfast. The next day he was knocked out when a customer punched him in the stomach when refused a free cup of coffee.

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEJoe's Ace Could Have Saved Him

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for N.E.A. Service

"Why is somebody always able to hold up his ace until the last second?" Hard Luck Joe asked mournfully. "After all, there are such things as singleton aces and doubleton aces. Why do I always have to find three to the ace held against me?"

"You were killed by three to the ace in both black suits," North observed quietly. "You couldn't do anything about the one that the enemy held, but you certainly could have saved yourself with the ace that you held yourself."

Joe looked bewildered, as usual. He couldn't see what the spades had to do with the situation.

O'Brien Quits His Police Post; Mayor Designates Murphy

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Thomas F. Murphy, a giant of a man who prosecuted Alger Hiss for the federal government, takes over today as the new commissioner of New York's graft-shaken police department.

His first job—in the face of a growing clamor—may be to turn the 38,000-man department upside down and shake loose its "rotten apples." He apparently has a free hand to do so.

Commissioner William P. O'Brien quit last night in the middle of a police-boogie scandal unearthing by a racket-probing Brooklyn grand jury.

"I find my position as police commissioner untenable," said the 59-year-old O'Brien, son of a policeman and a veteran of nearly 35 years on the force. He was not accused of any dishonesty, himself.

Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri also said O'Brien's position was untenable, and that they both agreed a resignation was in order.

The acting mayor revealed he had decided definitely on the O'Brien-Murphy switch yesterday after receiving a communication from the Brooklyn grand jury. The police commissioner is removable by the mayor or the governor. Impellitteri's term runs out at the end of the year.

Impellitteri, campaigning for election in November, ditched any plan he may have had to pick a new police commissioner from the ranks. Instead, he turned to the 44-year-old Murphy and made him the first non-policeman to head the force in 16 years.

The grand jury, backed by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald and County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, curiously demanded a civilian commissioner yesterday to clean up "an awful mess."

As for further changes in the police department, Impellitteri said last night: "That is entirely up to the new police commissioner."

Impellitteri, an independent Democratic candidate for mayor, said he talked things over with O'Brien and the commissioner agreed to resign.

"I honestly believe that his personal integrity is not involved in the present situation," Impellitteri said.

Gunman Takes $15,500 From Young Polish Woman
New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—A lone gunman forced his way into a Bronx apartment late last night and made a young Polish woman yield $15,500 she had hidden in her garage.

The victim was Mrs. Aaron Zaderman, who was alone with her three-year-old son. Her husband was away on business.

The couple, originally from Poland, had come to this country only a month ago. The money was to set Zaderman up in the jewelry business.

Mrs. Zaderman told police that the gunman, who seemed to know all about the money, knocked on the apartment door and asked for the regular lease-holder by name. Then, she said, he pushed his way inside and pulled the gun. He forced her to go into a bedroom and produce the money, and then fled immediately.

Mrs. Zaderman ran down the hall seconds later, screaming, but the man vanished without a trace. Police speculated that he may have overheard a conversation about the Zaderman's money.

First religious catechisms in question and answer form were produced in the ninth century, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Woodstock String Quartet
250 Washington avenue
Kingston, N. Y.
September 19, 1950

Editor, The Freeman:

Some Pearls of Great Price were showered on Kingston this past summer—in fact they were showered six times.

Most of the people in the town did not know they existed, and few realized they were "of the first water," exceedingly choice, none superior anywhere in the world.

I am referring to the Woodstock String Quartet concerts—summer music that could be enjoyed by the very amateur as well as the very expert. Why? Because any music, when interpreted by great artists who play it as though it were the simplest and easiest thing to do, is understood by every man, woman and child.

Someway many of the residents of Kingston did not realize what was in their midst—a collection of artists whom we could not possibly have secured in the winter for so little money, and whom most towns could not secure in summer.

The only reason we were so fortunate is that they have summer homes in Woodstock and have a wide acquaintance of New York artists whom they seem able to persuade to come up and assist, and because Engelbert Roentgen is widely known among foremost musicians, has had the enterprise to organize the talent of his neighbors.

I wish to frankly state that of all the concerts by string quartets I have heard in big cities, the concerts given by the Woodstock String Quartet these past three summers have been by far the greatest in inspiration and joy. I did not know such music existed. Just listen to the sustained harmonies of any combination of three of the instruments when they accompany a solo on the fourth. The three play as one—smooth as velvet—with such sympathetic shading as to give exactly the satisfying amount of support to the soloist. It is unbelievable until you hear it with your own ears.

The menu of the programs is varied to suit all tastes, but even the most difficult and complicated numbers are easy to digest when given such clear and understanding interpretation.

When you learn who the members of the Quartet are, you begin to understand why their playing casts such a spell on their listeners. There is the first violinist from the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, Mr. Drucker; and the first cellist from the Metropolitan, Mr. Roentgen. There is the first violinist from the Rochester Philharmonic, Mr. Tolomeo who plays second violin with the Woodstock Quartet and last but not least, the violist from the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Mele.

Then the visiting artists. Most of those we heard last summer have appeared with the leading orchestras of our country, or in Town Hall, or both. If you have never heard an extra solo with a string quartet—in other words, a quintet—your education has been neglected.

You should have heard how extra rich and delicious the tone quality became when Cynthia Britt chimed in.

The pianists were all brilliant masters of technique and the singing tones Mr. Joseph Wehlman is a wide-eyed pianist who is something that haunts you.

The fustiest might aptly be called a "big pea in a little pod"—a tiny girl with perfect breath control for long and rhythmic cadenzas. The vocalists were warmly received and as for the harpist, the audience fell in love with both the harpist herself and her playing.

It may not be generally known that St. James Church loans its parish house with its good acoustics to this summer community project just for the benefit of the community.

The summer concert season of 1950 is over and there is no more enchantment in store when a Wednesday night comes around; but we, who attended regularly and feel so tremendously indebted to our Woodstock friends for the pleasure they have given us, are eagerly looking forward already to the summer concert season of 1951. We can continue to have top-notch talent if the people of Kingston recognize this most extraordinary of opportunities, and learn to love and appreciate our wonderful Woodstock String Quartet by attending the concerts next year. Why lose all these pearls?

Lynch Is Speaker At Dutchess Rally

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Rep. Walter A. Lynch headed his gubernatorial campaign toward Hudson and Glens Falls today after an attack on the state Department of Commerce as a "propaganda department" for the Dewey administration.

Lynch, Democratic-Liberal Party candidate for governor, said last night the department's job is to publicize "all the rosy promises" of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's administration.

"It cost the people of this state over $1,000,000 in the past eight years," the Bronx congressman told a campaign dinner here.

Lynch, making his first upstate campaign tour, again charged the Dewey administration with squandering the state's $673,000,000 postwar fund.

"Where are the schools, where are the hospitals, where are the roads?" Lynch asked. "What happened to the fund—$673,000,000?" Poughkeepsie's Democratic mayor, Horace Graham, suggested at the rally: "Why not Lynch Dewey?"

A big sign at the rally—aimed at Dewey who is on tour campaigning for a third term—read "Time for a Change." The slogan recalled the one used by Dewey in his 1944 campaign against the late President Roosevelt.

Lynch, speaking in Carmel yesterday, demanded that Dewey discuss state issues in the campaign and stop his "forays" into international affairs.

"I am the challenger," Lynch declared, "and I challenge him to meet on state issues."

Dewey's real purpose in seeking reelection, Lynch hinted, is to stay in the political limelight so he can make a third bid for the presidency.

Dewey will never get a chance to run for the White House again, Lynch said, "because he will be rejected on January 1, 1951."

Lynch, complaining that Dewey had called him "illiterate, unknown," declared: "I have been to Fordham and I am not quite as illiterate as my opponent seems to think."

Lynch said Dewey is "so well known by so many people he will never be rejected."
